

Project Spotlight

Portage Zhang Farmers Market

- Wave-Form Pavilion Canopy
- 30' x 208'
- Portage, MI
- Job number #83121

Poligon partnered with the City of Portage to deliver the Portage Zhang Farmers Market, a permanent community gathering space designed to support local vendors, public events, and regional commerce. Located adjacent to the Zhang Senior Center, the development features three open-air pavilion structures with 50 covered vendor stalls, dedicated areas for food trucks and live entertainment, public seating, and accessible walkways. Designed to simplify vendor setup and provide protection from changing weather conditions, the market creates a welcoming environment that enhances the visitor experience while supporting efficient operations. Serving more than 30,000 annual visitors, the facility strengthens local economic activity and provides a lasting destination for the community.

The market's three open-air pavilion structures provide durable, low-maintenance weather protection while maintaining visibility, airflow, and a welcoming atmosphere for vendors and visitors.

Together, the three open-air structures create a flexible, architecturally distinctive space that supports community gatherings, local commerce, and year-round activity, helping local vendors grow their businesses and reinvest in the local community.